Mineral Oil Laxative

The internal administration of mineral oil, alone or in combination with other substances, may have its disadvantages. Dr. James W. Morgan has given eight reasons for not using this oil. Mineral oil has a harmful effect on the nutritional economy of fat soluble vitamins. The use of the oil as a laxative has been shown to cause weight loss in children, caused by the carrying away of the fat soluble vitamins A and D.

YOEMEN BASKETBALL TEAM BEATS ROGERS

In a fast, hard fought game played at Rogers Thursday night the Yoemen defeated the Rogers basketball team 18 to 7 in their first game of the season. The Yoemen, coached by Dick Young, scored first and never lost the lead.

GAUSE MAN SLAIN IN HOUSTON FRIDAY

Funeral services for Jesse E. Cass, 29, former Gause resident, will be held there Sunday, December 10, 1944 at 2 p. m. at the Gause Baptist Church.

Cass died in a Houston hospital from a gunshot. Murder charges were filed in Justice Ragan's court in Houston against William A. Smith, 36, of Houston who made a statement to Houston police authorities that he had shot Cass at 12:25 a. m. Friday in front of a down town cafe. In his statement Smith said he shot Cass because of an affair with his wife and detailed the events leading up to the shooting. Cass died at 1:15 a. m. in St. Joseph's Infirmiry from a shot gun wound in his left side.

Cass was a mechanic for the Houston Electric company and Smith is a pipe fitter for the Todd Houston Shipbuilding Corporation.

In his statement to police Smith said the trouble started about two months ago. "I pleaded with him not to break up my home," Smith said in his statement. "I urged him to stop causing my babbies to suffer and be neglected. Cass would never say anything definite or give me any satisfaction. And then my wife put in for a divorce."

Smith said he went home Thursday, tired, and found his wife had left him and had taken their children two and a half and 10 years old with her. "I missed my babies," said Smith, "and sat around alone for a while and then went to bed but couldn't sleep. I got up and dressed and put my shot gun in my car and went to the Milby car barn. Seeing Cass come out of the cafe, I called to him to come to the car and talk things over. I told him I was going to shoot him if he did not come to me. When I called to him, he stood sideways to me with his band in his pocket, and would not come over. I fired one time and he fell."

Cass who was reared at Gause is survived by his widow and son, Nolan Ray Cass, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cass all of Gause. Three brothers also survive: Malcolm Cass, Galveston; Carl Cass, United States Navy; Private Coy Cass, Fresno, Calif.; one sister, Mrs. Daisy Lewis of Galvseton. The body was at Green Funeral Home. FINAL APPEAL IS MADE IN 6TH WAR LOAN DRIVE

Dan Tyson, war finance chairman for Milam county, today issued the following final appeal to the people to buy bonds and to oversubscribe the county's quota and at the same time called attention to the failure of Cameron thus far to buy anything like a substantial portion of its expected total:

"As Chairman of Milam County for the Sixth War Bond Drive, I am making this final appeal to the citizens of Cameron and Milam county to sacrifice just a few hours from now through Wednesday, December 20th and throw themselves into the Sixth War Bond Drive and meet our assigned quota of $1,370,000.

"The sale of E bonds is far below our quota, particularly in the city of Cameron. The drive is open to everybody. Make all personal contacts and solicitations possible. Sign your friends up for at least one $25 bond. See that they get the bonds. It's an old appeal but gets better day by day. Don't just think about it—actually give an E bond instead of a luxury for a Christmas gift. No finer gift, no gift with deeper meaning could find its way into the Christmas morn stocking.

"LISTEN: Just last Saturday Six Million Dollars worth of bonds were purchased by our fighting men and was allocated to Texas in its quota. Fighting men, wounded war veterans, men who have paid their way in this war with blood cannot quite understand why War Bonds have to be sold to the people.

"They do the fighting and pay for it too" commented Nathan Adams, State Chairman of Dallas. "This is the greatest stimulus a country could receive for this drive. This gesture should encourage counties to match, or even double and triple the purchases alloted to it from sales made to fighting men."

"In the name of our boys who are now fighting and dying at this very moment, and for those who have already fallen and are now sleeping in an unknown and an unmarked grave on all of the battle fields let us unite as free Americans and BUY BONDS AND MORE BONDS. SAVE TO SAVE AMERICA."

"If a committee has not called and solicited your subscription then please call at your bank and other issuing agencies and buy you bonds. Don't wait.

"It was my desire at the beginning of this drive to visit in person each committee chairman in all sections of the county and all others connected with the 6th War Loan drive, but because of illness I have been unable to do so. I regret this very much.

"I have the utmost confidence and faith in the people of my home county and feel that we are going to cooperate in every way to bring this drive to a successful conclusion. Several towns and districts have gone over the top.

"When the total sales have been recorded and final audit made I am sure that we all can say: "Fight on soldiers, we have not forgotten."

"The success of the 6th War Loan is the responsibility of every American. It is our sacred obligation. What about it?"

KILLEEN WINS FROM FREDRICKSBURG 40-13

Killeen, Dec. 7.—The Killeen Kangaroos paraded four great backs all over the field tonight to trounce the Fredericksburg Hill Billies for the bi-district championship. The score was 40 to 13.

Coach Leo Buckley's boys led in first downs, 16 to 12, but dominated the play by a far wider margin throughout. They will play Gatesville Hornets for the regional championship next week.

Earl Baker, Jake Locklear, Wayne Arnold and Gayle Tolliver shared backfield honors almost equally, with the entire Killeen line doing a good job when it counted.

In the first period, Baker carried on a series of three plays from his own 40 to the Hill Billy two yard line and Arnold plunged over center for the first touchdown, with Tolliver converting.

Tolliver's kickoff went to the three, where the Fredericksburg receiver fell. The punt came back to the 30 and Killeen got going again. Locklear and Baker carried to the 14, then Baker passed to Tolliver on the four. On the second play Locklear went over. The kick was missed.

In the second, Killeen recovered a fumble on the Fredericksburg 45. Baker passed to Tolliver to the 19, Arnold carried to the 16, and then Baker tossed a perfect pass to Arnold for the score, with Tolliver converting.

With Hoerster running and passing to Hahn and Ottmer, the Hill Billies threatened at the close of the second period but were stopped on the 15.

Killeen fumbled as the second half opened after receiving the kickoff. Hoerster got loose around end to run from his own 39 to the seven and went over from there in two tries He passed to Hahn for the evtra point.

Baker ran back the Fredericksburg kickoff from his own 20 to the Hill Billy 45, and from there Baker and Arnold spearheaded a drive to the 15. Locklear shot off tackle for the score. Tolliver's kick was wide.

Tolliver's kickoff was bad, but it hit a Fredericksburg player and Tolliver recovered on the Fredericksburg 24. Baker went off tackle to the four. Locklear picked up two, and after a five yard Killeen penalty, Baker passed to Tolliver for the score on the first play of the last quarter. Tolliver made the point.

Midway of the period, Hoerster shook loose from the 50 down to Killeen's 20, carried twice for 13 more, and then passed to Hahn for the visitors' second toughdown. Staeher's kick was no good.

Taking the ball on his own 30, Baker ran to the Fredericksburg 45, Tolliver made 10 to the 35, Baker carried to the 30, and Locklear made it to the 10 in three carries. On the second play, Locklear went over and Tolliver kicked point No. 40.

Seed Loans For County Farmers Now Available

Emergency Crop Loan, generally known as the "seed loans," are now available to farmers of this county who need assistance in financing the production of 1945 crops, according to announcement of W. E. Farwell, Manager of the Dallas Emergency Crop Loan Office of the Farm Credit Administration.

An early installment of the loan may be advanced at this time for the purchase of feed or fuel oil for preparing the land, as well as fertilizer, seed and supplies, which may be needed now, and the remainder of the funds will be disbursed as needed, Mr. Farwell stated. The Loan Manager also called attention to the fact that the War Food Administration is urging farmers, who use fertilizer, to purchase it early and store it on the farm to relieve congestion in warehouses.

Applications for the loans in this County are being taken at the Chamber of Commerce, Cameron, under the direction of Eric E. Brown, Field Supervisor.

These loans have been made here for many years and have proven of great benefit to farmers whose cash requirements are small. Security for the loans is a first mortgage on the crops to be financed. As in the past, borrowers will be required to plant a large garden for home use and a balanced farm program of food, feed and cash crops is encouraged. Applicants who can secure loans from banks or other sources are not eligible for the "seed loans." The maximum loan to an individual is $400.

Want to Win an Ovation?

Then try something different this week. Drop off whatever brand of coffee you've been using and buy a pound of Admiration instead. Of course, don't let the family in on your secret. It'll be more fun to watch the faces around the table as grins grow into broad smiles of satisfaction. After that, we warn you, you'll have no other choice but Admiration Coffee — first, last, and always. But then, why not? If, like so many wives, you've had "coffee complaints" recently, because some established brands have been cheapened — well, using Admiration thereafter will just be a double pleasure.

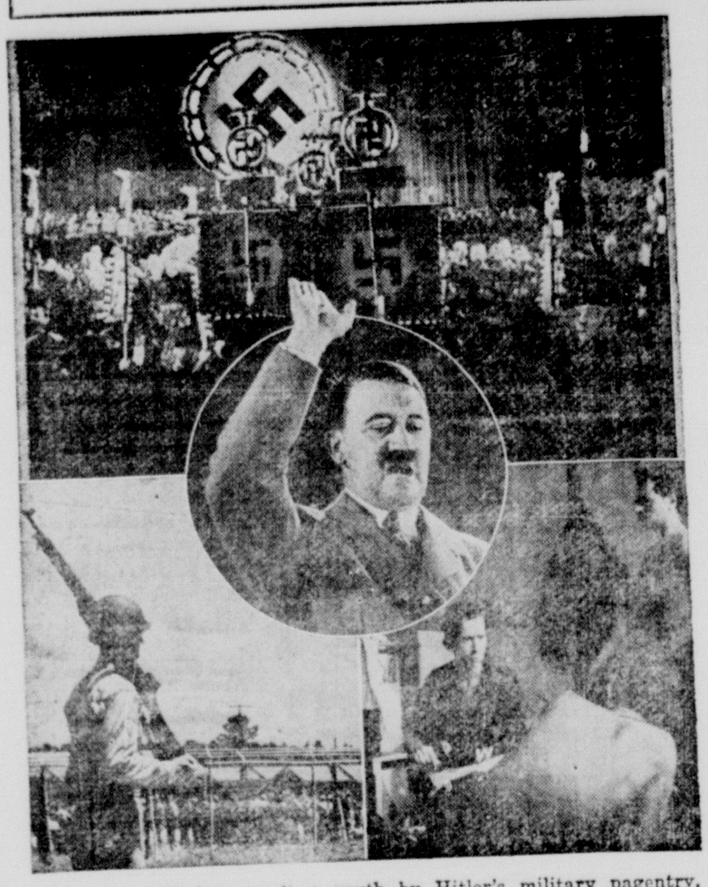
IS NAZISM INCURABLE?



Indoctrinated from earliest youth by Hitler's military pagentry, many Nazis in U. S. prisoner of war camps today are still unconvinced of the seriousness of Germany's plight, says March of Time's "What To Do With Germany." Their refusal to face the facts of Germany's breakdown, even in the face of overwhelming evidence, gives an indication of the difficulty the Allies will meet in forcing Germany to recognize her crimes. These scenes from the film illustrate the education of a Nazi. Above, the pagentry of a Hitler mass meeting sweeps German youth off its feet so that it is prepared to die for the Fuehrer. Now over 150,000 German prisoners are in the U. S. Here, despite all evidences of Germany's defeat, they are already dreaming of the day when Germany once more can embark on a war to fulfill her old dream of world conquest.

Eggs in Refrigerators

Unwashed eggs should be kept covered in a cool place or refrigerator. If not covered they will absorb the flavors of other foods.

Large Pork Loss

More than 9,000,000 pounds of pork were wasted last year, when 54,264 hogs were found dead on arrival at the stockyards.

New-Mown Hay

The elusive scent of new-mown hay is due to a chemical called coumarin. Since it is impractical to extract this delicious essence from drying grass, it is synthesized from coal-tar and blended with other odors into fine perfumes.

Perfect Eyes

There are very few "perfect eyes"—probably not more than two out of every 100 persons in the population have such eyes.

New Screen Play Casts Cary Grant In "Different" Role

When a Cary Grant picture is announced for local presentation it has always been something that movie-goers have cheered about. Their happy "hurrahs" are once again in order since Columbia's "Once Upon A Time," starring Cary and featuring Janet Blair, at the Cameron Theatre, Thursday and Friday and all the more so since advance reports say that this is Cary's grandest, is different, is something new under the Hollywood sun.

It certainly sounds different. According to word from preview audiences, the plot revolves around the discovery and promotion of a caterpillar which is supposed to dance to the tune of "Yes Sir, That's My Baby."

Cary Grant, in the role of a Broadway producer who discovers the said caterpiller and starts a promotional scheme to sell it and thereby get the money necessary to save his theatre from the sheriff, is said to give his usual, bright, comedy performance with an added quality of "heart" which will make him all the more popular with his movie fans.

Ted Donaldson, the youngester who gave such a notable perfomance as one of the red-headed sons in the smash Broadway hit, "Life With Father," plays "Pingy," the caterpiller's owner. He is said, by those who have seen him on both stage and screen, to give just as convincing and lovable a performance in "Once Upon A Time" as he did in the stage success.

Dusting Plane Wings

So important is wing-surface smoothness in fast fighter planes that it has been seriously suggested they be wiped free of dust and other small particles by service crews before each take-off. Some idea of the toll taken by any departure from smooth-as-ice surfaces may be had from the Langley field report that a transport flying at 225 miles per hour spends 180 horsepower pulling rivet heads and lap joints through the air.

Pig Food Consumption

Pigs, when fed efficiently and marketed at the usual weight, will show a gain of 100 pounds for a food consumption of 400 pounds.

Pasteurized Butter

Creamery butter, made from pasteurized cream, is often packed in tubs or the familiar pound prints and stored at zero for six months or longer. Homemade butter churned from unpasteurized sour cream would probably have an undesirable flavor after a few weeks' storage in a unit. Butter made from sweet cream will keep better than that made from sour cream; it will keep still better if made from pasteurized sweet cream.

NEW CHALLENGE ISSUED ON E BOND SALES HERE

If you have not bought that extra bond here is something that may help you make the decision. It comes from the office of Nathan Adams, State War Loan director to Dan Tyson, War Finance Chairman for the county.

Soldiers, sailors, airmen and those fighting on the global fronts, are buying that extra bond. Yes, its true, they are buying that extra bond. Bonds bought by Texans will be credited to Texas and distributed to the counties on a population basis. The amount credited to Milam will be $31,000.

Now, it is not a shameful thing to say of us that we had to take the money of those fighting for us in order to reach our E bond quota. Maybe it won't have to be said. Maybe we will go and buy that extra bond and take the $31,000 our boys are sending home into account as an overplus on our E Bond quota.

Mr. Tyson, War Finance Director, feels this is a mighty challenge to the people. Especially does the humilitation of it strike hard when we lag or even we are late with our buying. The official closing date for the 6th War Loan is December 20. Don't let it be said that the boys overeas had to come in and help us buy a small quota of only $225,000 E bonds in Milam county.

"And if our lines sag and break
Because of things you fail to make;
That extra tank, that ship, that plane
For which we waited all in vain,
Will you then come to take the blam
Will you then come to take the blame?
For we, not you, must pay the cost,
Of battles you, not we, have lost."

Sgt. Wilson Gresham of Sharp Sets Up Kitchen In Indian Temple; Just Goes to Show Texans Get Things Done Says New Delhi Newspaper

Texans the world over continued to be spotlighted on the war fronts and here is a story which has come to the attention of The Herald. It is about Sgt. Wilson Gresham of Sharp, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Gresham of that community. Under the title "Herewith the Daily Texas yarn," the following is taken from the C. I. B. Roundup, printed in New Delhi, India:

Myitkyina—Texas is a big state and its citizens are noted for doing the ordinary in a 'big' way.

Thus, when Wilson (Tex) Gresham, veteran mess seargeant along the Ledo Road for nearly two years, was sent into forward base to take charge of SOS Headquarters mess, he did the unexpected.

Instead of setting up the conventional frame and canvas kitchen, Tex discovered a bombed out temple in the headquarters area. "This is going to be my kitchen," he announced.

Coolies were put to work clearing out debris and throwing a canvas roof over the structure. Stoves and storage shelves were installed. And today the temple floor which once knew the dainty footseps of slender, dark eyed temple girls resounds to the lazy shuffle of Burmese KP's and the smell of incense has succumbed to the odor of frying spam and dehydrated potatoes. All of which only goes to prove that war is hell!

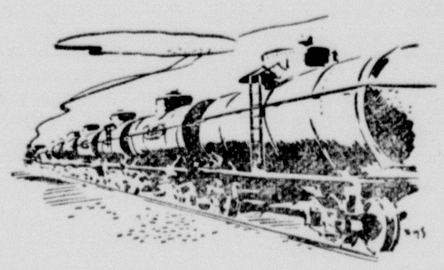
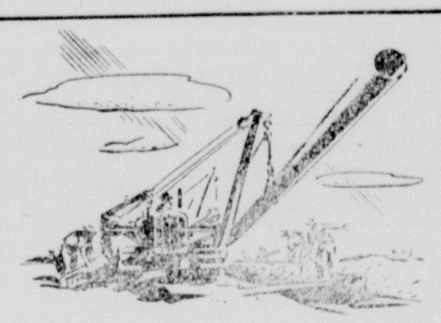
How Much Is a Billion Gallons of 100-Octane Gasoline?



It's enough to fill 120,000 tank cars—a train 1,000 miles long.



It's enough to fill an 8-inch pipe line that would circle the earth three times at the equator.

It's enough to fuel 400,000 Flying Fortresses for a round trip flight from Britain to Germany.

That's a billion gallons of 100-octane gasoline! But it's more than that. It's the effort of the 14,000 men and women of Humble Oil & Refining Company, who are today celebrating the production of the one-billionth gallon of 100-octane aviation gasoline at Baytown refinery—a remarkable feat in the history of the petroleum industry.

It is one of the wartime contributions of the 14,000 men and women of Humble—scientists, drillers, roustabouts, stenographers, pipeliners, technologists, truck drivers, geologists, glassblowers, stillmen and those working in hundreds of other occupations.

Here is a partial list of their accomplishments to date:

FIRST to produce at one refinery a billion gallons of finished 100-octane aviation gasoline.
The Baytown refinery has produced more 100-octane aviation gasoline than any other plant in the world.

FIRST to produce synthetic toluene.
The Baytown Ordnance Works, first to synthesize toluene from petroleum, has supplied the toluene for at least one out of every two bombs used by the United Nations since Pearl Harbor.

FIRST in the production of crude oil.
Humble Oil & Refining Company is the nation's largest producer of crude oil, and is currently supplying about one-fourth of the increased production required for war as measured by the gain since 1941.

FIRST in the transportation of petroleum.
The Humble pipe lines transport more oil than any other system, handle one barrel in every seven of the domestic supply.

These accomplishments climax a quarter century of development, planning and team work of a great organization. The men and women who made them possible are behind the billion gallons of 100-octane aviation gasoline. They are behind whatever America needs of them for victory.

"Ghost Catchers"

If there remained any doubt about it before, that these are unusual times, let it be dispelled for one and all: the new Olsen and Johnson motion picture, "Ghost Catchers," has a plot!

This unprecedented arrangement is the equivalent to such things as rivers running uphill, roosters crowing at sunset, or a Keystone comedy cop being thrown at a pie.

In "Ghost Catchers," which opens at Cameron Theatre Friday, Olson and Johnson and Universal Studios confused the audiences even more than Olsen and Johnson orinarily do with their lack of rhyme and reason, by appearing in a film production which has a beginning, a middle and an ending.

Indeed, the film has all the dramatic essentials of a Theatre Guild production, such as a climax, conflict (you can say that again,) and characterization.

Olsen and Johnson, apearing as themselves, run a night club along the lines of Bedlam Institute, and become involved in a Sir Galahad scheme to save two beautiful young girls, Martha O'Driscoll and Gloria Jean from whatever fate menaces young girls who live in a haunted house.

Before this is accomplished there are a murder or two, bodies in closets, screams, gun fire, songs by Ella Mae Morse, the boogie woogie queen: songs by Morton Downey, a vaudeville show, a riot in a night club, a jitterbug number, and a Gay 90's "wild par y." All this plus a concert appearance of Gloria Jean at Carneige Hall, and other ingredients which the Theatre Gild would never think to include in a Pulitzer production.

Popular Demand Brings Gene Back In Thrilling Film

"A dish fit for a king" or a super-western that obviously outclasses the run-of-the mill, stereotyped variety is Republic's re-release, "Tumbling Tumbleweeds," which will open at the Milam Theatre Friday and Saturday for a two day engagement.

With Gene Autry as the likeable, friendly singing cowboy, Smiley Burnette as the rib-tickling, hilarious comic relief and a cast of such stalwarts as George Hayes, Lucile Browne, Jack Rockwell and Norma Taylor—it's no wonder that Republic has deferred to popular demand by re-releasing one of Gene Autry's most thrilling vehicles.

Against a background of intrigue, false accusals, and a vicious band of killers, Gene injects his convincing characterization of a singing-cowboy who refuses to believe that his best friend is guilty of the crime of murdering Gene's father. It takes some tall planning, ingenious scheming, and whole-hearted faith in his pal's innocense, plus a burning desire to find his father's killer—to trap the culprits.

At first, Gene pretends to string along with the cock-and-bull yarn the murders hand him, but, at the right moment, he reveals his knowledge of their guilt—and there follows some of the most exciting, hair-breadth escapes on the fleet, magnificent Champion, that have ever filled a Gene Autry picture.

Restaurant Sanitation

Eighty-one cities of more than 10,000 population and 169 cities of less than 10,000 have adopted a restaurant sanitation ordinance. It is also in effect in 137 counties and has been adopted as state board of health regulations in 13 states. The law can be enforced without local adoption in Arkansas, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Indiana, Kentucky, Mississippi, Missouri, Nevada, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia. There are 144 cities in these states which have not adopted the restaurant code, but in which it may be enforced. Proper restaurant sanitation has been given credit for much of the effectiveness of health measures dealing with war workers.

Commercial Forest

Of the 460,000,000 acre commercial forest, private industrial operators own 202,097,000 acres; farmers, 138,812,000 acres. Thus, 340,909,000 acres are privately owned. The rest, 120,000,000 acres, is publicly owned, part being in national and state forests, which are intended for use and which are being used today. Clearly, then, responsibility for future growth rests largely on the shoulders of private owners.

In the total commercial forest, private, as well as public, there is a stockpile of 1,700 billion board feet of saw timber largely available for harvest. There is an immense, but undetermined, additional resource in smaller, growing trees. The United States forest service, in its comprehensive survey of 1936-38, estimated that this forest was producing 11¼ billion cubic feet of new wood each year.

Pasteurization of Eggs Improves Keeping Quality

A new method for preserving eggs has been announced by specialists at the Missouri Agricultural Experiment station. They have developed the pasteurization of shell eggs, not only to destroy bacteria but to retain their desirable physical properties much longer than if the eggs were untreated. The method has been checked and endorsed by the United States army.

The eggs are passed through hot oil or water, less than ten minutes being required for the operation. The process eliminates losses from chick development by converting fertile eggs capable of chick development into an infertile state, so that they can be kept in storage as well as the infertile eggs.

The pasteurizing destroys the bacteria though they may have penetrated the shell and shell membranes of the eggs. The process cuts down the rate at which the solid white is converted into thin or water egg white. The process also tends to improve the keeping quality of infertile eggs and has no harmful effect on the taste or cooking quality of eggs. The process can be utilized by poultrymen as well as commercial handlers of eggs. One of its commercial uses will be to reduce the bacteria content of frozen and dried eggs if they are processed from pasteurized or thermostabilized eggs. The bacteria count of such processed eggs was reduced 95 per cent. Some method must be worked out by the individual to control time and temperature during the process of pasteurizing.

For best results, maintain the oil and water at 140 degrees for 10 to 14 minutes.

Ladino Clover

Ladino clover, although a valuable crop, is an exacting and tricky one. Because it is different from alfalfa and other clovers in its growth habits, it must be handled differently and given particular care during the grazing season.

By experience, growers have learned that this clover will not stand the continuous grazing which little white clover gets in permanent pastures.

Ladino demands rotation grazing, with ample periods of recovery between grazings. Above all, it needs five or six inches of topgrowth to go into the winter. Dry weather summer and fall restrict the growth of the crop, resulting in more overgrazing at that period than usual.

Mary Ann Foster of Calvert has returned home recovered from an operation in the Newton Memorial Hospital.

Nicotine Effective

Nicotine is effective against aphids or plant lice; and may be also used, at greater strength, to kill young squash bugs and eggs of squash borer. Nicotine for spraying is sold as nicotine sulfate, and contains 40 per cent nicotine. Soap must be used with nicotine to enable the spray to wet and kill the insects. Nicotine in concentrated form is a violent poison, but it quickly disappears from plants after spraying.

Laundry with Chestnuts

A suitable laundry soap can be made out of chestnuts, according to an Amsterdam Nazified newspaper. This is the formula: "Dry chestnuts, remove husks, and grate the kernels. After boiling the kernels, press the mass through a sieve. The liquid thus obtained must be mixed with warm water, after which it is ready for use." However, the paper warned, this "ersatz" should not be used for fine fabrics.

Are you a Dollar SABOTEUR?

Every time you buy goods you do not really need, you help force prices up, help make critical shortages of merchandise even more critical. Any one of us who is spending as high a percentage of his income on "unnecessaries" today as he was before the war, is just that—a saboteur.

But when you buy War Bonds regularly—when you go to the bank each pay day and make a deposit—when you save according to a plan—you help build a backlog of saved dollars which will help keep prices down and will help assure continued prosperity after the war.

Boys Overseas To See New Hit

"In the Meantime, Darling," 20th Century-Fox's tender and warm-hearted story of a GI bride on a furlough honeymoon has been selected as one of the pictures to be distributed abroad to the Navy, Army, Marines and Coast Guard by the Army Overseas Motion Picture Service as a gift from the American Motion Picture Industry.

The film, which stars Jeanne Crain with Frank Latimore, Eugene Pallette, Mary Nash and an outstanding supporting cast, is scheduled to open today at the Cameron Theatre.

Moving toward the front at the discertion of combat commanders, the picstures are handled by special service officers who mobilize merriment for munitions, replace rifle blasts with movie laughter, and pour American music and entertainment from landing barges to compete with screaming dive bombers and the thunder of bursting shells.

Chicks Started Right

Start feeding grain to chicks at about six to eight weeks. Feed free-choice whole oats and corn after 12 to 14 weeks. Wheat, barley and millet may also be used.

When liquid skim milk is the only drink, leave out the dry milk and all but 50 pounds of the soybean-oil meal. When both milk and water are fed free choice, leave out the dry milk and reduce the soybean-oil meal to 100 pounds.

Radio Man 2|C Albert Epperson Visits Here

Radio Man 2|C Albert Epperson and his mother, Mrs. A. T. Epperson spent the week end in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sapp. Albert is with the Merchant Marine and has just returned from a seven months of service in the Pacific. He is Radio Man on his ship. His travels took him to the Persian Gulf, India, New Guiena, Australia and back to Balboa where he took a plane and flew to Mexico City and to Houston by train. Mr. and Mrs. Epperson and Albert are former residents of Cameron.

Fowl Tuberculosis

Fowl tuberculosis can and is being transmitted to hogs at a high rate but all scientific evidence shows that it cannot be passed on to humans.

Tuberculosis in poultry is responsible for sizable losses in chickens and causes about 90 per cent of the same disease in swine.

An annual waste of 14,000,000,000 pounds of pork and pork products has been condemned as unfit due to tuberculosis, 90 per cent the direct result of poultry carriers.

Joe E. Mason of Rockdale visited in Cameron Tuesday. He will leave in a few days for Alvond in North Texas where he will visit with his brother through the Christmas holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Turney of Minerva shopped in Cameron recently.

Use Entire Chicken

The rib piece of chicken becomes real meat, easier to handle and much easier to eat, if bones are removed. Break the back ribs at the backbone joints. Pull bones out with your fingers or a small knife. Chicken feet are a good source of gelatine for soup stock. Scald them with boiling water until the skin is loosened, then pull it off with your fingers. Cook the feet with the rest of the chicken. Wings are a better fit for the frying pan if each top is folded back of the shoulder joint. It makes a flatter and more solid piece that browns evenly and is easier to handle. For better looking slices of cold chicken, wrap the fowl in cheesecloth and tie well before cooking. The meat stays firm and white and is easy to slice thin. Chickens are easier to dress if they have been on a diet limited to water at least 12 hours before they are killed.

Swiss Chard for Spinach

Swiss chard, a specie of beet, may be substituted for spinach during the hot days of summer. It has luxuriant broad leaves, which may be cut at the ground. The roots will send up a new crop of leaves.

Acorns for Poultry

Acorns of the willow oak variety are an excellent and potent source of vitamin A, according to tests conducted by the United States department of agriculture.

Two per cent or more of the acorns in the diet of chicks produced yellow flesh and this color increased with the quantities of acorns fed. As much as 20 per cent appeared to have no harmful effect.

No Fish Smell

If you'll wash your hands in strong salt water after handling fish, then rinse well before washing in warm, soapy water, they'll carry no fish odor. Works on dishes and cooking utensils too.

Seeds for Prisoners

The American Red Cross is sending 15,000 pounds of vegetable and flower seeds to American prisoners of war in German hands.

Many Tree Farms

More than eight million acres of forests and woodlands have been formally designated as Tree Farms and the number is increasing annually in the United States.

New Fuel Tablets

A new fuel tablet, a synthetic compound with a binder to hold it in solid form, has been provided the army. This is to provide the soldier with a quick, hot meal with his combat rations.

Wear Orchid Hat

A Detroit woman war worker, wearing slacks, and having split and blackened nails, recently purchased a hat costing $40 made entirely of orchids. The hat was only good for about two hours wear.

What Was Legend of Star in the East?

"The New Testament does not guide us in attempting to identify the Christmas star," Dr. Dinsmore Alter, director of the Griffith observatory, Los Angeles, Calif., states.

"We know what the heavens appeared like 2,000 years ago and there is only one reasonable theory for the announcement of the Wise Men, who said, in Matthew II, 2:

" 'Where is He that is born King of the Jews, for we have seen His star in the east and are come to worship him?' "

"In 6 B. C., there was a grouping of three planets—Jupiter, Saturn and Mars—which might have provided the ancients with their long-awaited sign of the Nativity.

"One year earlier—7 B. C.—Jupiter, Saturn and Venus were similarly grouped.

"What makes the astronomer pause at accepting this theory is the passage in Matthew which reads, 'The star went before them.' That, many scientists assume, must have been a psychological rather than an actual visual impression."

Mince Pies Were Symbolic Of Magi's Visit to Manger

The Christmas mince pie had a Christian symbolism in the beginning. The pies represented the gold, frankincense and myrrh brought by the Three Wise Men to the manger: the crust symbolized the gold, and the mixture of spices the frankincense and myrrh. Originally the pies were made oblong and followed the shape of the manger.

There was a superstition that there was no luck in store for the man or woman who did not eat a mince pie at Christmas. To eat one, it was believed, was to be sure of having at least one happy month. To enjoy a year of happiness, a person had to eat one pie on each of the twelve days after Christmas.

Chimp Christmas

The two performing chimpanzees of the Philadelphia zoo are guests each year at a Christmas party. Here one of them finds that the apples and carrots decorating the tree are very tasty. One of the chimps plays Santa Claus at the annual affair.

Serving of Boar's Head One of Old Yule Customs

Of the customs that grew up around the Christmas festival in Merrie England, the serving of the boar's head was one of the most stirring. It endures to this day at Queen's college, Oxford, where the 50-pound tusked head—a lemon in its grinning jaws—is borne in on a great silver dish, escorted by trumpeters and candle bearers. It is served up with a wonderous flourish of music and mustard at the high table where sit the dons.

In the olden days there was an appropriate chant, half carol and half ritual, that the gentlemen used to bellow at the moment the dish touched the board:

Then set down the swineyard,
The foe to the vineyard,
Let Bacchus crown his fall.
Let this boar's head and mustard
Stand for pig, goose and custard,
And so ye are welcome all.

God Rest Ye . . .

God rest ye merry, gentlemen,
Let nothing you dismay,
For Jesus Christ, our Savior,
Was born upon this day
To save us all from Satan's power
When we were gone astray.
O, tidings of comfort and joy
For Jesus Christ, our Savior,
Was born on Christmas day.

Late Christmas

There are still millions of Christians who observe January 6 or January 7 as Christmas. They allow for the 12 days difference in the old calendar and the new. The Eastern Orthodox observes January 7. In North Carolina one church group observes January 6, as do a number of other sects.

Theme Changes

The Nativity theme in Christmas carols gave way to the sentiment: "Bring us in good ale."

British Santa

Father Christmas is the British for Santa Claus.

INSURANCE

THE VERDICT OF THE YEARS IS SATISFACTION

"Time Tried and Fire Tested"

INSURANCE IS NOT AN EXPENSE—IT IS AN INVESTMENT IN SECURITY!

STRAIGHT TALK ABOUT THE SIXTH WAR LOAN DRIVE

AS WE MOVE closer to victory, it wouldn't be surprising if you were saying to yourself—"What's the big idea of asking for all this additional money now? Isn't the war almost over?"

No sir, it is not! Not by a long shot. Of course, for many months now you've heard mostly about the war with Germany, where our greatest effort is concentrated. That's why many people have the idea that the war's practically over.

But make no mistake about it—nothing could be farther from the truth! The Japanese war is a tremendous undertaking, and victory will come high. We'll have to fight every inch of the way.

Everything Costs More—in the Pacific War

The European war is expensive, but almost everything in the Pacific war will cost more. Take transport costs, for instance: Because of the longer distances, the same amount of freight costs 25 per cent more when shipped to the South Pacific than to Europe. And it takes twice as many cargo ships in the Pacific to support a task force of a given size because turn-around time is twice as great!

More Planes...Tanks...Ships...Oil

In addition, we shall need more of everything. More B-29 Superfortresses that cost $600,000 each. More P-47 Thunderbolts that cost $50,000 each. More M-4 Tanks, with bulldozer blades, that cost $67,417 each. More amphibious tanks—more aircraft carriers—more supply ships—more gasoline and oil than it took for the invasion of Europe!

Care for the Sick and Wounded

And lest anyone forget, we shall need more battalion aid stations—more clearing stations—more evacuation hospitals—more convalescent hospitals—more hospital ships.

For many, many years the sick, wounded, and otherwise disabled veterans will require medical attention and care. That's the least Uncle Sam can do in appreciation of what they've done for us.

Maintenance for Millions

Did you ever stop to think how much money it costs to maintain the 11 to 12 million men and women in our army and navy? Whether the men are actually fighting or not, they must be fed, housed, transported from one training center or battle area to another, cared for in a hundred and one different ways. That all costs money and will continue to until the last man demobilized is back in civilian clothes.

In addition, millions of dollars will be required for mustering-out pay, for various benefits and services voted by Congress to help the boys get started in civilian life.

These are reasons enough why patriotic Americans will want to buy heavily during the Sixth War Loan. But here are still more

Winning the Peace—for Your Country

If we're to win the peace as well as the war, the cost of living must be kept down and the purchasing power of money preserved. A reckless inflation that would necessarily be followed by the catastrophe of deflation—with its unemployment, bankruptcies, misery and heartache—must be prevented at all cost.

Let's make no mistake—a dangerous period lies ahead. The American people have nothing to fear, however, if they show in the future the same common sense they have shown in the past, and continue to put every penny over rock-bottom expenses into the purchase of more and more War Bonds.

Winning the Peace—for Yourself

Want another important reason? Yourself! There isn't a better or safer investment in the world today than War Bonds. In helping your country, you are also helping yourself! Never in our entire history has it been so necessary to save as right now. We'll need money, individually, for education, repairs, replacements, retirement—and we'll need a lot of it.

As you can see there are many reasons, important reasons, why our Government must have the financial support of everyone, and have it for many months to come.

Let all Americans do their part—for their own sake, for

2766 CASUALTIES FOR THIS AREA REPORTED

S. E. Brogdon, Salvage Chairman for Milam county under War Production Board, is responsible for some interesting information on the number of casualties suffered by men in service in the War area.

According to Mr. Brogdon 703 are dead, 460 missing, 1175 wounded and 428 are prosoners of war. In releasing this information Mr. Brogdon took occasion to make an appeal for waste paper salvage.

"Texans are doing the finest patriotic shooting job of this war," said Mr. Brogdon, "If the house wives won't save all the waste paper, collect rags and turn in used fats to the meat dealers, and if the men won't use their energy, ingenunity, yes, money if need be, to move this paper, rags and fats into the war effort, it is no secret our casualty lists will increase for the lack of supplies.

"And if our lines sag and break
Because of things you failed to make;
That extra tank, that ship, that plane
For which we waited all in vain,
Will you then come to take the blame?
For we, not, you must pay the cost,
Of battles you, not we, have lost."

"Let's think in terms of salvage. A clear conscience is better than the best alibi. An alibi is a shout of 'no' to GI's plea for help. This work is fighting on the home front."

Tiny Flea Beetles Cause Garden Damage

Numbers of small, jumping beetles known as flea beetles appearing in many gardens threaten damage to tender young plants unless they are controlled by sprays or dusts. Most common of the many kinds of flea beetles are the black ones, about the size of a pinhead. As they are small, gardeners seldom notice them until they have done much damage.

They make up in numbers what they lack in size, and riddle the leaves with small holes. Injured leaves turn yellow or brown and dry. Newly set transplants and seedlings may be severely stunted or even killed. Tomato, potato, eggplant, and pepper are favorites of the flea beetle, and cauliflower, broccoli, cabbage, radish, and other plants are often injured.

Rotenone and cryolite are the most effective materials for killing flea beetles. Combination dusts of calcium arsenate and fixed copper fungicide (cucumber - melon type dusts) and calcium or arsenate or lead arsenate used at 1 level tablespoonful per quart together with bordeaux or fixed copper spray are effective mainly as repellants.

Seedless Tomatoes

By evaporating a very small amount of an organic compound known as beta naphthoxyacetic acid in the greenhouse as tomato plants just about come into bloom, every plant in the place set fruit, which ripened into high-quality, luscious tomatoes without seeds in tests conducted by Dr. P. W. Zimmerman of Boyce Thompson institute. The substance is an organic compound which comes in crystalline form, and at relatively low temperatures melts, then turns into a vapor. It was warmed over an electric hot plate, causing the evaporation. The vapor treatment was also tried on the holly plant with the same result. Investigation is being made for its wide practical application.

Miss Geraldine Chambers of Baylor, Waco, spent Thanksgiving holidays at home.

Tar Lives Again In Dreams, Escapes From Corregidor

Calls Out in Sleep Names Of Shipmates He Fled With in Launch.

SEATTLE. — It has been two and a half years since R. A. Rankin, boatswain's mate first class, and 17 shipmates dodged the Japanese fleet and escaped after Corregidor fell, but the dreams of the 23-year-old sailor from Long Beach, Calif., still are nightmares and he calls out his shipmates' names in his sleep.

Rankin is in a naval hospital here because of lost weight and shaky nerves after failing in several attempts to return to active duty.

"We were at Corregidor when it fell at 7 o'clock in the morning," he recounted to an interviewer, "and we had orders from Lieut. Comdr. John Morrill, our commanding officer, to scuttle our ship. It was a minesweeper, the last ship left.

"Thirty of us went on the scuttling party and, as we watched her disappear, we talked about trying to escape. Only 18 of us wanted to try."

Use Camouflage.

Rankin said that, with Commander Morrill in charge, the 18 loaded their "liberty boat," a 36-foot Diesel launch, with navigation instruments, nine drums of fuel, corned beef and hardtack, a .30-caliber machine gun, hope and stout hearts. They sailed five miles up the beach, camouflaged the boat with leaves and spent the rest of the day on a hilltop watching the Japanese take away the prisoners captured on Corregidor. He said boats designed for 100 or 150 were packed with 300 to 400 in the stifling heat.

That night the Morrill party began their 31-day flight. They pulled past the Japanese patrol boats and then the engine died. "We drifted back through the patrol boats and a mile farther than we had come," he recalled.

The engine was repaired and, in broad daylight, the launch started on between two islands again. Sighting the Japanese fleet, the crew slapped black paint on their launch to hide its "navy look."

"The fleet went by within 1,500 yards, and the sun was shining brightly, but they didn't spot us."

Then a storm hit the little launch and for 12 or 13 hours it was "bail or sink." They sailed on, meeting natives who gave them bananas. They met other natives who tried to steer them toward the Japanese. Four Nipponese small craft were seeking their trail, so the launch slipped into a cove, let the searchers pass, and then followed them.

Reach Australia.

At the southern end of the Philippines they met a native school teacher who told them Japan had taken New Guinea and Java and were landing in Australia.

But they went on, and when they reached Australia they missed Darwin by only seven miles.

"We beached the boat on Melville Island and got out, ready to fight," Rankin continued. "We met a missionary priest who was baking bread. After 31 days of corned beef and hardtack we ate loaf after loaf of that bread. He told us the Yanks were in Darwin."

So they sailed on, through the submarine nets and mines, went ashore in Darwin and feasted on tea and crumpets.

Three weeks later Rankin went to sea again, but his "tin can" was torpedoed and sunk at Guadalcanal. He asked for sea duty again, but he kept on losing weight, and after losing 50 pounds he was sent home. That was a year ago. He went to sea again, but his nerves went bad; he lost more weight and he couldn't sleep, so he is back ashore again.

His wife has come north to be near him. He corresponds with his companions of the Philippines-to-Darwin flight—all save one, who was killed later.

An American Tragedy — Bos No Longer Ride Rods

MINNEAPOLIS. — The war has erased almost completely another familiar figure from the American scene—hobos who "ride the rods."

Since Pearl Harbor most of the men who rode freight trains for free and weren't bound for any place in particular, have gone to work in war plants, says Joseph Gillis, president of the National Council of Railway Patrolmen's Union (AFL).

Combating railroad thieves will be one of the main problems confronting railway patrolmen in the postwar period, Gillis told the organization's annual convention.

Prisoners Beat German Having Father in U. S.

OMAHA, NEB. — A German prisoner of war at the Scottsbluff (Neb.) camp who wanted to write to his father, a resident of the United States, was severely beaten recently by fellow prisoners, who declared the father was "not a good Nazi," the Seventh service command announced.

The prisoner was a member of a group captured near Cherbourg.

"When the prisoner insisted on writing to his father he was beaten so badly he was taken to the camp hospital," the army said. His condition was said not to be serious.

More Rural Phones Post War Plans Of Telephone Co.

A joint committee of representatives of Bell and independent operating telephone companies throughout the United States has been formed to advance the nation wide post war programs which the various telephone companies have been working on individually to extend and improve farm telephone service, it was announced by E. C. Crittenden, Jr.

As soon as war demands are reduced, we propose to resume and expand our research effort and, along wth it, the intensive program for extending farm service which was being carried on before the outbreak of hostilities.

"Over one half million miles of telephone pole lines serving rural areas have already been built so that more than two thirds of all rural families in the United States can be served from existing lines. Since 1935 more than 500,000 additional families in rural areas have become telephone subscribers—an increase of 35 per cent. One of the major objectives is to continue this upyard trend by making the service over existing lines increasingly valuable and attractive. This the indusry intends to do to the limit of its ability.

"A second major objective is to extend service at reasonable cost to families not now reached by existing lines.

"The industry research in the last several years has successfully developed new construction materials and methods which substantially lower the cost of building wire lines to areas not previousiy reached. In addition, work was started by the industry in 1938 to develop a practical system of transmi ting telephone conversations over electric power lines. A similar system can be used over telephone lines to increase their capacity. This so-called rural carrier system transmits a very high frequency current over the wires. From 1940 on, experiments with this system for telephone service over rural power lines were carried forward in a cooperative effort of Bell Telephone Laboratories and the Rural Electrification Administration. Before this work was interrupted by the war, it was clear that a suitable system of this kind could be produced.

"One practical effort of these developments is to make it physically possible to furnish telephone service wherever there are rural power lines and no telephone lines. The telephone companies plan, in co-operation with REA co-operatives and with power companies serving rural territory, to determine the full extent to which rural carrier telephone service can be used economically and effectively.

Thousands of men and women in service will take a furlough trip home for Christmas.

For many of them it will be the last time they will be with their families for an indefinite period of time.

Of course, we want to provide them with space on our trains for comfortable trips to and from their homes.

To do this—with our limited passenger equipment and unprecedented volume of civilian travel—we must again ask your cooperation and friendly understanding.

As you can adjust your going and coming with more latitude than men and women in service—please—postpone your train trip until after the holiday period to enable us to provide accommodations for our soldiers, sailors and marines on Christmas furloughs.

Pfc. Wendell Cryer, Army Air Corps Awarded Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal and Now Has 2 Oak Leaf Clusters; Returns to the States

Pfc. Clifton Wendell Cryer, United States Army Air Corps, whose 20 months in combat overseas were spent in the Burma-China theatre of operations, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal and has two Oak Leaf Clusters to the air medal.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cryer, parents of the airman, have just received notice of the decorations accorded their son. Pfc. Cryer has just arrived back in the states for a long period of rest.

Pfc. Cryer was one of the limited number of men who flew the roof of the world, the Himalayas to take precious supplies over the great hump for men fighting the Japs. They were called "Flying Quartermasters."

The decorations were awarded by the commanding General of Supply, United States Armed Forces in China, Burman and India for extraordinary achievement in aerial flight and has participated in over 90 combat and supply flight missions during exposure to enemy and aerial fire was probably and expected, said the citation. The flying weather over the great hump is the worst in the world.

The citation making the awards continues:

"All individuals have with courage and fortitude accomplished their assignments and have brought much credit upon themselves and the military service of the United States.

"More than 125 of these "Flying Quartermasters" have received the awards, 16 of them posthumously after their planes had been shot down or crashed while dropping supplies to American and Chinese Combat troops in the jungles of Northern Burma during tropical and Monsoon weather.

Pfc. Cryer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cryer of Cameron. They also have another son, Pfc. James Cryer who is in the service. Pfc. Clifton Wendell Cryer is now in the states where he is resting.

New Appeal is Made For Gifts for Men In McCloskey Hospital

A new appeal was issued here Saturday by Mrs. F. C. Fahrendorf for immediate response with gifts for the wounded at McCloskey.

Those who wish to donate gifts and money for gifts may see Mrs. Fahrendorf or leave them at the Herald.

To bring cheer into the lives of the men who have come back from the war fronts with wounds serious enough to keep them in the hospital and who cannot be at home with loved ones, this appeal is made.

December 14 is the last day gifts can be received for they must be delivered to the hospital. If you have not as yet contributed a gift or money do so at once. Gifts must have value of from 50c to $1. Mechanical pencils are wanted. Each patient will get present to the value of $1 or two of the value of 50c.

Rural communities are appealed to to respond with gifts.

Notice to the Public

It has come to our attention that false claims are being made that the membership of the Coleman Burial Association has been re-insured in another association.

Some weeks ago we gave notice that the Coleman Burial Association had merged with the Marek-Burns Burial Association and all members in the Coleman Burial Association were re-insured as provided by law in the Marek-Burns Association. These are the true facts and all members are now re-insured with us. You are warned to disregard all claims to the contrary.

Not Too Happy Over Nazi Loot

'Cabbage Kids' Find Wiping Up After Retreat of Germans Tedious.

WITH U. S. TROOPS IN FRANCE.—Everybody in the American army is pleased with the supplies taken in captured German dumps except the "Cabbage Kids."

That is the name one detail gave themselves after being assigned to remove a couple of tons of cabbage left behind by the precipitate Nazi retreat from the Paris area.

It was a warm, sunshiny afternoon and the strong overripe cabbage made its presence widely known as the soldiers shoveled it into a truck.

The driver of the "Red Ball Cabbage Special" was Corp. Hal F. Crouse of Maiden, N. C., who said he had already carted away one truckload and was bemoaning the fact that it was not a load of Luger pistols so he could have stocked up on souvenirs.

Not For Mailing.

"But you can't mail your friends a boxful of German cabbage," he said, leaning against a tire and holding his nose.

"The next time the Jerries move out I hope they take their cabbage with them—or make sauerkraut out of it," said Pvt. Meyer Matluck of the Bronx, N. Y.

Pvt. Solon Gray of Flint, Mich., just shoveled away in silence as two "cabbage removal" squad sergeants — Sgt. H. M. Woodall of Gladys, Va., and Sgt. James F. Beale of Terre Haute, Ind.—looked on from a safe distance.

Another unusual job for soldiers was performed by army engineers who built three ferries and operated a passenger service for troops and vehicles across the Loire.

All Bridges Knocked Out.

All bridges had been knocked out by Allied planes or blown up by French Maquis to trap German forces in southern France.

Ferry vehicles were made by putting pieces of treadway bridging across six assault boats lashed together. They were powered by small outboard motors, whose efficiency amazed the French farmers. They couldn't see how such a little putt-putt gadget could work so well.

The ferries were promptly named "42nd Street," "Brooklyn," and "Hoboken."

"We can take a ton and one half ambulance across," said Corp. Michael Suprock of St. Clair, Pa.

Their most "distinguished" passenger was Nazi Maj. Gen. Erich Elsner, who surrendered the last 20,000 enemy troops south of the Loire. But his 20,000 troops walked across a bridge which was repaired and put into service soon after.

4,000 Autos a Day Are Headed for Scrap Heap

WASHINGTON.—More than 4,000 autos are being scrapped daily and approximately 1,500,000 will leave the highways permanently this year.

The OWI estimated that the supply of new cars subject to rationing had dwindled to 20,000 and that 650,000 used cars are in dealers' hands.

By the end of this year the number of privately owned passenger cars in operation is expected to be about 23,750,000. The ODT regards 20,000,000 privately owned cars run by essential drivers as the minimum number necessary to keep the civilian economy in operation.

Find Louvain Library Partly Wrecked Shell

LOUVAIN, BELGIUM. — The famous Louvain library is partly in ruins, another victim of German ruthlessness. The library was destroyed by the Germans in World War I and rebuilt by public subscriptions in the United States. The building was again partly destroyed by the Germans when they entered Louvain four years ago, and hasn't been touched by Allied aerial bombardment. The front walls and roofs still stand, but the rear is an empty shell, framed by bare walls and empty windows.

Robots Will Displace Other Planes, Forecast

BALTIMORE, MD. — Peyton M. Magruder, airplane designer recently returned from the European battle front, predicted that the German robot plane would revolutionize air warfare and eventually replace piloted bombers.

"Two hundred years from now Hitler will be remembered as the man responsible for the first pilotless plane," Magruder said.

Magruder is chief of new design at the Glenn L. Martin airplane manufacturing plant. He originated the Martin Marauder bomber.

Nazi General Is Rooted Out of Cellar in France

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF.—The 10th German general killed or captured by the American Seventh army in France was rooted out from the cellar of a little farmhouse west of the Belfort gap.

He is Maj. Gen. D. Rodowski, commander of the garrison of Clermont Ferrand, where Pierre Laval published a newspaper. His force was scattered by the Seventh army's drive north from the Riviera.

Potato Storage

If proper results are secured in the storing of potatoes the temperature and moisture must be well controlled. Kept too warm, the potato, like most fruits and vegetables will use oxygen and burn itself to death so that decay will take place.

If kept too cold, below 38 degrees, the potato will turn some of its starch into sugar, losing much of its food appeal. Potatoes stored too cold develop enough sugar so that they will caramelize in hot fat and are not suitable for potato chips or french fried potatoes as they come out an unattractive dark brown. However by taking the potatoes to room temperature for two weeks the sugar turns back to starch and restores their high cooking quality. A temperature of from 40 to 50 degrees is most favorable for the keeping of potatoes.

Grew Fast

One of the largest cities in the world for her age, 90-year-old Seattle, Wash., has a population of 617,000. The city was founded by Arthur A. Denny and a small group of settlers from Illinois, who landed on Alki Point in 1851. With little ceremony, the city was named "Sealth," after the friendly Siwash Indian Chief, but gradually became "Seattle" because of its easier pronunciation.

Fewer Apple Varieties

More than 7,000 varieties of apples have been named and introduced. Around the year 1900 there were 340 varieties on the recommended list, and nurseries were selling at least 1,400 kinds. Today only about 30 varieties are of commercial importance.

A Merry Christmas and Happy

2 16 Year Old Girls Held For Parents; Are Runaways From La.

Two 16 year old school girls from Dubberly, La., are in custody of Deputy Sheriff Carl C. Black who has communicated with their parents who may be on the way here to take the runaways back home.

The girls are Kathryn Sheppard and Lee Davis. Mr. Black took the girls in charge here early Tuesday. They said they were tired of home and were running away. Both are in school.

Asbestos Products

Asbestos, a rock which can be reduced to fiber form, becomes rougher and harder the older it gets. Unaffected by either fire or weather, this mineral is combined with portland cement in the manufacture of asbestos cement shingles, sidings and building board. Despite extensive demands by the armed forces, these materials are still available to home owners for repair work.

Eye Exercise

Eye exercises may aid in strengthening weak muscles so that the focusing of the two eyes may be properly coordinated. However, the consensus is that such exercise is of little value in refractive errors of the eyes.

Continuous Feeding

Keep feed before the growing chicks constantly, to help ward off trouble from coccidiosis.

Homer Chambers of Camp Hood visited his wife and mother over the week end.

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

Ramblings and Ruminations: Central park trees looking rather tired and discouraged—they did have a hard, hot summer and unlike so many other New Yorkers, they had to stay right where they were . . . A bus hurrying through the 65th street transverse, its cargo, homeward bound school children who are doing a lot of shouting and squealing . . . A black clad, pale, but very pretty young woman, sitting on a secluded bench, reading a letter with tears streaming down her face—possibly a manifestation of another war tragedy . . . A hansom cab driver telling his passengers, a middle-aged couple, about the old times in Central park when the first snow brought a cutter race with a magnum of champagne going to the winner . . . A gray squirrel, sitting on its haunches, observing a boy and girl who are so interested in one another they are unaware of the rest of the world.

* * *

A two-chin dowager barging into a swank shop with all the pomp and circumstance of an ocean liner entering its slip . . . and a deferential doorman seeing that my lady gets inside with a modicum of discomfort . . . A gentleman with a stiff hat and old fashioned handlebar mustache, calmly consuming a banana as he walks along the avenue . . . One sunburned serviceman, at Fifth avenue and 46th street, remarking to another sunburned serviceman, "There ain't nothin' to do in New York. Now if we were just down in Dallas!" and the other replying, "You said it, buddie" . . . A gray-head, whose hands look as if she might be a scrub woman, inspecting a window display of mink coats that are "bargains" at a mere $3,000 each—with the notation, "plus 20 per cent government tax" . . . A derelict pouncing on a discarded half-smoked cigar and going on his way puffing jauntily.

* * *

Noisy flocks of blackbirds seeking resting places in the ornamental front of Grand Central Terminal . . . Maybe they figure that if they arrive early, they'll get the choicest lodgings . . . Baggage-laden travelers emerging from taxicabs and hurrying into the station as if every second meant much . . . But if they haven't got their tickets already, they'll spend a lot of time waiting in line . . . A diminutive red cap with a big suitcase under each arm and another, equally large, in each hand, speeding along as if he were carrying no weight at all . . . Cameramen waiting the signal that will cause them to dash down to the tracks to meet some motion picture queen arriving from the West coast . . . and in the background a flock of press agents ready to spring into action.

* * *

At a Times square subway station entrance, a graying woman pleading for a "nickel carfare to get to Brooklyn" . . . and, though she receives a dozen or so donations, remaining right in the same place . . . A very tall serviceman, accompanied by a pint-sized blonde, inquiring as to how long it will take to get to Coney Island . . . and on being told, "one hour," shaking his head and turning away . . . Evidently his leave is running out fast . . . Two very blonde chorines passing one another with elevated noses—possibly some backstage feud . . . A very correct British major informing a policeman that he requires assistance because he is absolutely unable to find the hotel at which he registered during the morning . . . and the officer replying that if he turns his head slightly to the left, he'll see the sign.

* * *

The tower of the Empire State building disappearing into the mists . . . Little side street restaurants emitting breaths of stale grease . . . A messenger boy with four telegrams stuck under his cap and a hot dog in each hand . . . Women shoppers, most of them carrying parcels, milling about in Herald square . . . Jersey residents hurrying into the Hudson tubes on their way home before the rush hour . . . A flock of sparrows battling over a dirty bread crust . . . A woman, whose excess flesh causes a middle bulge, colliding with a fat man because her attention is entirely taken by a window display of millinery . . . and the fat man apologizing despite the fact that the blame isn't his and in addition, he lost his cigar.

* * *

Lieut. Jack Raymond after 2½ years in the army, got his medical discharge at 12 the other night and one minute after midnight, went right back to work for his old boss, Praise Agent Ivan Black . . . Three V-Mail letters from France reached Josh Levin, manager of Cafe Society Downtown, asking for reservations for New Year's Eve 1945.
